Some Particularly Pathetic Incidents of the Terrible Wreck on the Lake Shore K-droad at Hamburg, N. Y.—A Bride of a Week Among the Dead-Miraculous E-cape of Baby Stewart, Whose Parents were Both Killed-List of the Injured.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 7 .- One of the saddest incidents of the Lake Shore accident was that which befell Joseph D. Baucus, a bright young lawyer of Saratoga Springs. A week ago Mr. Banens was married to a handsome young lady of Rome, N. Y. The happy couple had spent their honeymoon in the West and were returning on the Salina. When was brought into a sleeper and the him constantly informed of her condition, but the suspense was too much ordered by the State Beard of Arriculture for him. He jumped up and, brushing and the State Veterinarian, assembled within the prevision of section 32 and section about the doctors aside, folded his arms 810, of the Revised Statutes of 1900 that the for him. He jumped up and, brushing "She's cold?" he cried in despair, and he glanced up for a look of disapproval from the physicians who stood by, "No, she's living yet," answered one of the doctors. The devotion of the broken-hearted husband was touching in the extreme. He refused to be led away, and clung to the side of his unconscious wife, kissing her bleeding hips and urging the dectors on to further efforts. But medical skill proved un-

Another sad and one of the most pathetic incidents of the disaster was the miraculous escape of Baby Stewart, the eighteen-months'-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stewart, of Rochester. Mr. Stewart and the were in the telescoped passenger coach with the baby clasped in its mother's arms when the and father were instantly killed, being discovered on the floor of the car, covered with debris, and crushed almost beyond recognition. In the arms of the mother Baby Stewart was found, prattling and crying "Mamma, mamma," but the mother was cold in death, and strong men wept while the little thing was lifted from the embrace of the dead mother. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were removed to the baggagecar, and the ladies tenderly cared for the tiny little orphan. Soon the baby, tired of calling for its mother, fell asleep. Mr. Frank Conger, vice-president of the Groton Bridge and Manufacturing Company, of Groton N. Y., took charge of the baby, and on arriving in Buffalo claimed by relatives. The Need of Assistance Can No Longer be Questioned—An Investigation by the Red Cross Discloses a Said Picture of Poverty and Distress—Large Numbers on the Verge of Starvation—Clara Barton Calls for Prompt and Liberal Aid.

WASHINGTON, March 10. The following statement to the American people has been received by the United Press from Clara Barton, president of the National Association of the Red Cross:

For many weeks past the Red Cross has been in receipt of letters of appeal and

As one result of the interviews thus had senator L. R. Casey, of North Bakota, wrote to Governor Jong Miller informing him of the inquiries of the Red Cross. Under date of Bismarck, February 18, Governor Miller wrote thanking the Red Cross for the kindly interest evinced, and stating that he had referred the matter to Hon H. T. Helgensen, State-Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor, with instructions to give all particulars as -Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor, with instructions to give all particulars as to the wants of their people. Under date of Grand Forks, February 21, Commissioner II. T. Helgensen wrote in part as follows: "There are probably 5.000 or 5.000 people dependent, and a good many more who have provisions for themselves, but need feed for stock. Considerable help has been received from St. Paul and Minneapolis, also from Chicago, and from several States East and South; but thus far only enough to temporarily relieve the needs of the destitute, and much more will have to be solicited from time to time."

time to time." Commissioner Helgensen accompanies his letter with a paper which contains an appeal to the public, signed by the Commissioner, as follows: "The suffering for want of provisions, clothing, fact and feed for stock in several counties of North Dakotais unprecedented in the State, and needs some explanation. The destitution is almost exclusively confined to the newer pertions of the State, where the settlements date back only two, three and four years, except Nelson and Ramsey counties, which have been so, 'ed about six years. These settlements sections came together. Mother father were instantly killed, being overed on the floor of the car, cov-with favorable seasons." The stery as told by the Commissioner is that of all our new States. Good seasons at first rewarded them; every acre was turned over in 1888. All appeared well until August of that year, when a severé frost, a thing unknown before, killed the ripening grain. It did much damage in the older and better portions of the State, but it entirely destroyed the newer section. The hardy men did not lose their courage, but hired out to neighbors thereby carriers the means as neighbors, thereby earning the money necessary for the seed and living of 18st. The unprecedented drought of last year was doubtless felt most severely of anywhere in the West in the fields and families of the LAGRANGE, Ind., March 2.-Frank Mingus stabbed and instantly killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Nehemiah Lounsberry, at five o'clock vesterday evening. Mingus separated from his wife recently, and one of his children was placed in the care of his wife's parents.

Murdered His Mother-in-Law.

Becoming dissatisfied with this arrangement, he attempted to enter the Lounsberry residence last evening and regain possession of his child, but Mrs. Lounsberry refused him admittance. This infuriated him, and he plunged a small pen-knife into Mrs. Lounsberry's neck. Death was instantaneous.
